ACTIVITY IMPLEMENTATION (including key questions)
Introduction: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Talk to your child about Gerald the giraffe and how he never gave up and kept on dancing, even though other animals made fun of him. • Show your child their old photographs. Use the opportunity to talk about what they were like when they were a baby/toddler, things they used to do or could not do then. Discuss the new things they have learnt or achieved since then. *"Look, here you are trying to ride your scooter for the first time. You fell at the beginning but then you practised and now you never fall and are super-fast."
Main Activity: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Using the printed template, go with your child through all the different situations. Let them describe the pictures and give them enough time to think over their answers. • Stick the pictures in the 'Before I did' and 'Now I can' boxes accordingly. *Can you use the toilet now? – Yes. *Before you learnt how to use the toilet, what did you wear?" – I wore nappies. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In case your child replies using the verb in the incorrect tense, role model the sentence for them, using the correct form of the verb. For instance, your child says "I weared nappies", correct them by saying, "That's right, you wore nappies." • If your child cannot complete some of the situations, use it as a great opportunity to encourage them to keep trying and practising. Talk about persistence and positive thinking. *You can't jump yet, but with lots of practise, soon you will.
Challenge: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Challenge your child to put into practice some of the situations they can now do. *Can you put your shoes on? *Can you eat all by yourself today?

Additional ways to support your child:

Focus on the things that your child can do and reassure them that they can always ask for help if needed. Ask your child what they would like to learn to do and support them in achieving it (e.g. taking off a jumper).

Extension:

Learn a new song 'Yes, I Can' and explore what some of the animals can and cannot do.
