Good Morning Limetree,

Today you are you that is truer than true.

There is no one alive who is youer than you (Dr Seuss)

Did you enjoy your Pirate adventures?

“Arrrrr”. Well done you remembered your pirate talk.

I hope you didn't have to walk the plank!

Today we meet Zog and the Flying Doctors. The story is written by Julia Donaldson and illustrated by Axel Scheffler.

Below is the blurb:

Meet the Flying Doctors: Princess Pearl, Sir Gadabout and, of course, their trusty 'air ambulance', Zog the dragon. There's much to do, as they fly around tending a sunburnt mermaid, a distressed unicorn and a sneezy lion.

Wow it sounds like the characters in the story are going to be very busy.

You can also get busy with today's activities:

- Princess Pearl was very kind and helped a mermaid with sunburn/a lion who had a cold in the story. Now we are going to write thank you letters from one of the characters.
- Zog is a beautiful orange dragon – Let's design and make our own dragon.
- What can we do to keep healthy? -Let's have a discussion and then demonstrate our understanding, by sorting a variety of food into 'healthy' and 'unhealthy' categories.

Have a wonderful day of play, and discovering new ways to learn.

Take good care.

From Miss Loftman
