Good Morning Limetree Green,

Today we are having activities to celebrate Victory in Europe Day (VE Day) which is happening tomorrow. You are probably wondering what this day is about and why are we celebrating? VE Day is a day to remember all of the people across Europe who helped to protect and look after one another at a very hard time. We are going to do lots of activities today in preparation for the special day to celebrate peaceful times.

Tomorrow will also be a great day to think about how thankful we are for everyone who is working hard to keep us safe and healthy at this time.

All celebrations need decorations and something for you to wear.

So let's get creative and make some bunting, design a flag or make your own celebratory hat.

Oh, I almost forgot get your aprons and rolling pins ready to make some yummy scones.

We will also explore London through the eyes of Katie in the story Katie goes to London by James Mayhew.

I hope you'll have a fab time. Please share your VE Day celebration photos and fun moments.

Enjoy your Bank Holiday.

Take good care.

Love from Miss Loftman.
