Good Morning Limetree Yellow!

I hope everyone is happy this morning and ready for a wonderful day of learning. Today you are going to read a brilliant story by Jill Murphy called 'On the Way Home'. Can you see the front cover below? I wonder if you can use what you can see to predict what may happen in the story.

Today you will be drawing a picture to represent one of the events in the story. I hope you've all been practising your drawing skills - I miss seeing your wonderful creations! You will also be role-playing being a doctor or nurse. Do you remember when we made a hospital in our role-play corner - you all showed so much kindness by looking after your friends.

Have a super day Limetree Yellow!

Love from,

Miss Cassidy
