

Good morning Peach!

Date: 11th May 2020

How is everybody doing? How was your weekend?

First of all, I would like to say a big thank you to all of you for the wonderful photos and videos that you send us. We miss you very much and it makes us very happy to see you. So keep on sending them!

Today, we are going to read a book The Boy Who Cried Wolf. It is a story about a little boy who tried to trick other people so many times, that in the end, no one trusted him. I believe that always saying the truth is a good thing. What do you think?

Then, we will get crafty and create a wolf and sheep. We will also make different sounds to go with the story and finally, we will practise using a fork and knife safely.

We will also continue with our letter, number and language of the week. This week's language is Macedonian so please make sure you will visit our video channel to learn something new about it.

Enjoy learning, playing and creating!

Love,
From Eva
