

Thursday 7th May 2020

Good morning Rosewood!

I hope you are ready for the exciting activities we have prepared for you today. I wonder if anyone knows what special day it is tomorrow. Tomorrow is something we call VE Day or Victory in Europe Day.

VE Day is a day to remember all of the people across Europe who helped to protect and look after one another at a very hard time. We are going to do lots of activities today in preparation for the special day to celebrate peaceful times. Tomorrow will also be a great day to think about how thankful we are for everyone who is working hard to keep us safe and healthy at this time.

Today you will be getting creative and making celebratory flags or bunting. Following a British tradition, you will also be baking some delicious vegan scones. Today's story is 'Katie in London' by James Mayhew - I wonder if you will be able to recognise and name any of the London landmarks in the story.

I hope you enjoy celebrating VE day. Be sure to send us in any photos of your celebration as we would love to see them!

Have a wonderful, sunny bank holiday weekend!

Love from,
Miss McDade

